

LA FOLLETTE IS NOW ON RECORD

Warns Friends of Senator Spooner He Must Bend to the Yoke.

STRANGE READING

Filled with Populistic Sentiment and Hidden Bossism of Coming Power.

USES THE WHIP HAND

Johann Most, Eugene Debs or William Jennings Bryan never conceived in their fertile minds a more radical, a more remarkable document than that the brains of the LaFollette faction have just fired as their last gun in the gubernatorial contest.

To the ordinary mind, to the common voter, who has heard all the talk of no hostility to the return of Senator Spooner to the United States senate, this circular must come as a blow. They have been deluded into voting for delegates to nominate a man whose brain can evolve such a document filled with its wild vagaries and hidden opposition to Wisconsin's greatest statesman.

It is a remarkable document and one that has cast the brand of populism and one man bossism on the escutcheon of the Republican party in Wisconsin. Nebraska had its Bryanism, Kansas its Pefferism, Michigan its Plogersm and now Wisconsin has its LaFolletteism.

To attack Senator Spooner in the guarded terms that this remarkable document does is a blow behind the back. A knife in the shoulders. Public opinion as to the real motives of LaFollette and his machine as regards Senator Spooner, had been lulled by the LaFollette press. The general public had been told that the Governor was simply seeking re-nomination and would not oppose the return of Senator Spooner. Once the whip hand is assured, then comes the revelation. A revelation foretold by the Stalwarts for months past. A move that the friends of Senator Spooner and true republicanism have been fighting against for a year past.

The following section from the document refers to the United States senatorship:

Taxation and Primary Election Reform Shall Not Be Sidetracked

"So far as the United States senatorship is concerned, these issues must not be subordinated to it, played off against it, or in any manner involved in it. Those who have in charge the interests of any candidate for the United States senate will, of course, look to such interests, as their unquestioned right. The members of the republican party may all favor one or more candidates for the United States senate, as is their unquestioned right. With the United States senatorship, the advocates of primary elections and just taxation do not propose to interfere between candidates unless forced so to do in defense of these measures. But let it be plainly understood now by any candidate for the United States senatorship, that the advocates of nomination by direct vote, and of just and equal taxation will endure no further opposition to the platform pledges of the Republican party, by federal officials, in open violation of civil service rules and all decent party obligations, without such a protest as shall command the attention of the President, the Party and the Country. More than two hundred thousand Republicans of Wisconsin are resolved not to allow these great issues, which lie at the foundation of representative government within this state, to be sacrificed a second time for any reason. For once every selfish interest and ambition shall give way to the cause of the people."

By the friends of the Senator this is considered as a direct thrust at him. A thrust that will be followed by concerted action that will result in his downfall. None of them are deluded by a hope that LaFollette will withdraw from his present status. He will fight to the bitter end. He has secured enough delegates to assure his re-nomination as governor on the republican ticket. He is now in a position to show his hand. He can neither, as his press have said he would, be satisfied with his re-nomination and allow Wisconsin to be the most ably represented state in the Senate, by Wisconsin's greatest son, or he can use his power, become the "Boss" and dominate the party.

His initial step would look as though, if not he himself, his lieutenants are favoring the one man Boss system. It appears to be rule or ruin. No word of a conciliatory meaning is found in the whole length or breadth of the document. It is "I Robert LaFollette, I, martyr and much-maligned man, I say so." It has a decided tone of the small boy who is the bully of the school and has a chip on his shoulder all the time waiting to be knocked off.

Even LaFollette's own supporters consider the move a bad one. He has even betrayed their confidence in thus attacking Senator Spooner. His appeal is aimed directly at the choice of legislatures in the different counties. The voter is warned to beware who is chosen.

Another remarkable passage is the following: "The United States senatorship is, indeed, a matter of great public interest, but the administration of municipal government, the regulation of public service corporations, that control light and water and transportation, the regulation of banking and insurance, the care of highways and bridges, the protection of public health, the protection of our homes, the security of life and property, the maintenance of courts which administer justice and of our public school system, and the equal, honest, fair distribution of the taxation by which all of these are paid for reaches down into the daily life and life of every man and woman in Wisconsin. These issues are nearest us. They bear upon us every hour. They are paramount. No question of a United States senatorship must be permitted by the people of Wisconsin to thrust them aside. "Tolerate no interference with your right as a taxpayer to select a candidate for the legislature who will represent your interests in every vote he casts."

BUSINESS TIED UP ALL OVER

Chicago Freighters Have Paralyzed Business by Still Holding Out.

STRIKE GROWING

Down-Town Delivery Men Will Join Teamsters on Monday.

NO END YET IN SIGHT

(Special By Scripps-Mellae) Chicago, July 12.—This morning sees the strike between the freight handlers and the railways assuming a more serious aspect. Late last night it was thought a compromise would be reached, but the strike of the teamsters this morning puts an end to all such hopes.

9,000 Are Out This morning almost all of the 9,000 teamsters in the city refused to deliver a pound of freight to the railroads that have non-union men in their employ. It is estimated that before night fully 9,000 men will have gone on a sympathetic strike to aid their brother union men, the freight handlers.

Tie-Up Complete The tie-up is complete and no freight is being moved at any of the depots. This action practically paralyzes Chicago's great business interests and will cause incalculable losses, if the trouble is not settled soon.

Situation Critical This afternoon the leaders of the down town delivery wagon drivers association announced at the teamsters' headquarters that they would hang out on a strike on Monday if the freight handlers trouble was not settled. This would swell the total up to over forty thousand and completely close all business in all lines of trade in the city.

No Settlement Yet Up to one o'clock this afternoon no settlement was yet in sight. The committee of the freight men have not as yet been able to find the railway committee of managers and it is feared that no compromise will be made.

His confessor succeeded in restoring peace. It is feared that his mind is deranged.

PUGILIST M'GOVERN SAVES WOMAN'S LIFE

Terrible Terry Rescues Miss Maybelle Moore from Drowning and Gets a Kiss.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 12.—Miss Maybelle Moore, daughter of W. H. Moore, a Chicago manufacturer, and part owner and leading woman of the Huntley-Moore stock company, was saved from drowning by Terry McGovern, the pugilist.

Miss Moore was bathing near Heinz's pier and McGovern and some friends were swimming near by. She started to swim out to the buoy, a distance of 100 yards. When she feared the buoy she found herself in the undertow and was carried out to sea.

She called loudly for help and McGovern swam quickly to her, seized her under the arm and swam back for shore.

Some of Miss Moore's friends got a lifeboat and rowed to the rescue. McGovern and his exhausted companion caught hold of the boat and both were taken ashore.

When Miss Moore learned who her rescuer was she put her arms around his neck and kissed him.

TRUTH IS NOT ALL TOLD YET

Opinion Is That More Are Dead in the Mine Than Reported.

FIFTY ARE BURIED

Search Continues, and Dead Now Number One Hundred and Twenty-Five.

MORE ROOMS YET

(Special By Scripps-Mellae) Johnstown, July 12.—With daylight and after fifteen hours of continuous search, one hundred and five bodies of the Cambria mine disaster have been recovered and the majority of them identified. Search is still going on in the shafts of the mine proper.

Search Continues Search for the bodies of the unfortunate miners will continue until the whole mine has been explored. It is thought now that the number of dead will not exceed 125 although there may be a few bodies in out of the way places that will not be found at once.

Still Excited The Johnstown police and the coal and iron police are still on duty at the mine's mouth to keep the women and friends of the missing miners from going to certain death by entering the pit's mouth.

Caused by Defective Lamp It is now said that the explosion was caused by the explosion of a defective lamp of one of the miners and that the fire damp came so suddenly that escape was impossible.

Three Deaths Three of the men rescued Friday died this morning. Three more are not expected to survive the day. At ten o'clock the total number of bodies recovered was 124.

Believe More Dead It is the general belief that the managers of the mine are trying to conceal the true loss at the mine. It is thought that the list will be over two hundred and possibly more. Fifty victims were buried this morning.

27 Rooms Yet There are twenty-seven rooms yet that have not been examined and it is feared that many miners are dead in these and that the company is concealing it.

Twenty-two lives were saved by the heroism of the rescuers. Of these, fourteen men—burned, crazed by gas, or unconscious from suffering—were found in a little room off the main shaft and were brought to the surface and taken to the temporary morgue in the armory. Seventy-one of the bodies were identified. Of them forty-seven were married men. The entire city is in mourning.

The most conservative estimate places the number of men killed in the explosion at 150 and some say the rescuers will find 200 bodies.

Rescue the Living.

Thrilling experiences attended the efforts of the forty fellows who went down into the mine with a faint hope that still they might be in time to restore life to some of those who were entombed. Bodies were located at every turn, but no effort was made to bring them out until every human energy was put forth toward seeing that no living remained. That done, the dead were put in cars and brought up. Eighty-seven bodies were recovered from the mine between daylight and nightfall. Still a party of officials and miners battled on, three miles inside the mine.

Occasionally word would come to the surface that another heap of remains had been discovered. There remain dangerous headings in the "Klondike" section of the mine yet to be explored. No one knows how many more dead will be found there.

Tries to Kill Friends.

Word came from the innermost recesses of the mine that life yet lingered in some of the bodies found. The rescuers made first for the No. 4 heading, which they have been unable to reach before. Falls of roof almost choked up the heading, but through and over the debris the rescuers pushed their way in. In the front young Patrick Martin, his brother Peter, Philip White, and several cousins of the Martins made their way.

They were startled by a laugh from a blackened form that rushed at them out of the darkness. The man grasped a pick handle and tried in his frenzy to beat down his rescuers. He was overpowered and dragged back to the cars. Thirteen other living men were found in this chamber and physicians were quickly taken to the spot.

At 3 o'clock the train of mine cars came to the pit mouth, where ambulances stood. Eight men were lifted over the sides of the cars and carried to the ambulances.

The train of coal cars with the physicians re-entered the mine. In another half hour they came out again, this time with six living but almost dead miners. One man in his paroxysms had locked his jaws so that force had to be employed to pry them open. The insertion of flasks, these six were taken in an unconscious condition to the Cambria hospital. One man brought out with this crowd died just as he reached daylight.

Fire in the Mine.

At that time three more headings, believed to be filled with the dead, were unsearched. Thirty-nine bodies were lying within reach in the main heading. These were brought out. Their bodies were piled high in the coal cars and covered with canvas.

One of the volunteer rescuers who came out stated that he was raging in parts of the mine that would take some time to quell. Most of those who were brought out alive had saved themselves by crawling into a chamber and turning a valve on the compressed air pipe line which runs along the entry.

From the positions of the bodies the miners were evidently eating their lunches when suddenly stricken down by the explosion. They were seated in groups of five and ten, with their buckets and the remains of their lunches scattered over the floor.

A little further on, in No. 4 heading, the rescuing party found eight other men in a more serious condition. The physicians in the rescuing party administered oxygen and other restoratives, but for a time the men were too weak to risk bringing them to the surface.

Gov. Stone has directed James E. Roderick, chief of the state bureau of mines, to investigate the cause of the disaster.

FISH STORIES THAT ARE TRUE

A MOST REMARKABLE TALE

It is a Fishy Narrative But Then They Say That It is a Fact.

Janesville has always been convinced of the attractive powers of its young women but a nadditional proof of the fact has been given recently which is certainly unique. When it becomes more than an accidental occurrence for young women who chance to be out boating to unconsciously charm the fish of Riek River out of their native element and directly into their own laps it is time for the young men to "get next" to their jobs and openly concede the drawing power of a maiden's winsome ways.

Certainly this is a fish story, but it is a good one and, unlike the variety told by the sportsman with the rod and reel but with never a string of fish, it is true. It has a value also besides its novelty for fishermen may profit by the experience related and add to their spoils. Hereafter they might as well leave their lines and bait at home and go fishing with no other tackle or bait than a rowboat and a pretty girl. It may not be more economical than the original method though it would probably appear so to the casual observer, but it has certainly proved exceptionally effective in the past week.

Two of a Kind
If there were only one incident to this story people might perhaps be pardoned for looking wise at its telling but when two different parties, with an unblemished reputation for veracity and without collusion, relate almost identical experiences it would seem as though the two might corroborate each other. But perhaps it might be well to cease the effort to gain a believing ear for the story and proceed with the story itself. When all is said and done each reader will exercise his own right to give credence to its happening or not as he pleases. Thus it is with all fish stories.

A Peculiar Incident
On last Sunday morning Roy Peterson and his sister-in-law were returning from Beloit by row boat. About three miles below this city a black bass jumped up out of the water and landed squarely in the lady's lap. She was frightened and jumped to her feet and in the excitement the fish flopped back into the water.

Five Others Did Likewise
As soon as the first surprise was over the young people bemoaned the fact that the fish had been allowed to escape and Mr. Peterson suggested that perhaps if they rowed slowly the incident might be repeated. Surely enough it was, not only once but five times, and when the boat was run ashore in this city, it contained five black bass which had been so eager to be caught that they had jumped into the boat. The young lady became quite accustomed to the occurrence and none of the funny athletes, except the first one which took her by surprise, had any possible chance to escape because of her fright.

Experience With a Carp
The second incident was only one-sixth as big but it was just as exciting. It happened last Thursday evening on the occasion of the excursion and dance up the river conducted by the Y. P. S. of Trinity church. Instead of accompanying the main party on the steamer, Miss Kathryn Fenton and Roy C. Palmer made the trip to and from the park in Mr. Palmer's tow boat. Miss Fenton was steering and when about half way to L. E. springs she turned the boat the wrong way and ran into some weeds in the water along the east bank of the river. It was between 8 and 9 o'clock and too dark to see distinctly.

An Unexpected Visitor
Just as they were backing out of the weeds something wet and slimy jumped high out of the water and plumped itself down squarely in Miss Fenton's lap where it floundered and flopped around until she was able to push it into the bottom of the boat. Not being able to see what the intruder was added greatly to her first fright but it was soon discovered to be an immense German carp.

Throws the Fish Out
Miss Fenton retreated to the other end of the boat and Mr. Palmer charged on the enemy and put it to rout. It was a slippery, elusive enemy and it was determined to remain in the boat but after a long tussle, in which Mr. Palmer was obliged to roll up his sleeves and tackle the fish with both hands it was forcibly persuaded to return to the water.

Three Was a Crowd
Fishermen who know the carp will understand that for many hours, Mr. Palmer had confirmation for his story in the odor that lingered insistently on his hands. When asked why they did not retain the fish as added proof the young people admitted that they wanted to, but there wasn't room for all of them in the boat. Something simply had to go.

BOX FACTORY MAY BE STARTED HERE

Expert in the Business Visited Janesville in Search of a Location.

A short time ago a gentleman named Vinnidge from St. Joseph, Mich., was in the city looking for a location for a paper box factory. Mr. Vinnidge is an expert in the paper box business and has just disposed of a factory at St. Joseph.

Has His Own Money
He was not looking for local capital to help him with his factory, but for local business. While here he visited the Lewis Knitting factory, The Parker Pen Co., and the Isabel factory and other business houses that use a large number of paper boxes.

Local Business
He was satisfied that if he could get sufficient business here in town, the outside business would make a success of the factory.

A Good Thing
No doubt the enterprise would be help to the manufacturing interests of the city and would employ quite a number of hands. Mr. Vinnidge seemed well pleased with the outlook in this city and has taken the matter under consideration.

BAND CONCERT DRAWS THROUG

Dog and Children Compete in a Sound-Making Contest—Some Listen to Music.

Atmospheric conditions made Friday night well nigh perfect for the band concert which was given in the court house park by the Imperial band. The programme, aside from a weakness at times in the heavier basses, was well played and one number even went so far as to evoke a slight round of applause from a few of the more enthusiastic members of the audience. The applauding auditors relapsed into a shamed silence as they realized that the hearers were not expected to appreciate the music or if they did not to give any indication of the fact.

Many Sightseers
The park was well-filled with spectators, for few seemed to have come with any other purpose than that of sightseeing, and the music appeared to be regarded more as an agreeable accompaniment to the evening's pleasure than as a program that was worth nearing for its own sake.

Youngsters Play
The children were, as usual, the attendant predominating element of the throng and above all else could be heard their voices as they tumbled and shouted about the fountain and when at one time in the evening a forlorn small dog lent the support of his shrill howl in a determined effort to drown all competing sounds the delighted shrieks of the small boys and girls monopolized the attention of all. For a moment the casual stranger might have thought that the infantile were the attractive features of the evening rather than the musicians.

Don't be persuaded into taking something said to be "just as good" as Madison Medicine Co.'s Rocky Mountain Tea. There is nothing like it. 35 cents, no more, no less. Smith's Pharmacy.

CUBA'S FLAG IS OLD.
The flag of the Cuban republic antedates the establishment of the republic itself by a good many years. It dates back to about 1850. It has a Masonic origin and hence the triangle. The red field is the emblem of war. The purpose of the movement here in the United States was to conquer the Island Southern people, fighting Masons, were the leaders. The three stripes denoted the three departments into which the island was then divided. The white stripes were put in merely to divide the blue. The star which appears in the red field is the lone star of Texas. In New Orleans there existed the association of the Lone Star. They assisted Narcisco Lopez with money and in other ways when he invaded Cuba in 1851 and adopted the flag of the association out of gratitude. When Cespedes began the revolutionary movement of 1895 he had another flag, but the people of Puerto Principe and the Santa Clara raised the present flag, which was adopted as the Cuban national flag when the first constituent assembly came together in 1899.

LAWYER KILLED WHILE HUNTING

Nappanee Attorney Falls from Fence, Breaking His Neck.

Nappanee, Ind., July 12.—William H. H. Gehns, an attorney, met a violent death while out hunting. He was to join a companion, William Grass, but did not reach the rendezvous. Grass found him lying beside a fence with his neck broken. Evidently the falls had slipped as he was climbing the fence, throwing him on his head. He was 67 years old.

RUNAWAY STOPPED BY CURIOUS MEANS

PLUNGE OVER RIVER BANK

L. F. Knipp's Horses and Brewery Wagon Saved from a Bath by a Tree.

Louis F. Knipp's horses and beer wagon were saved from a soaking in Rock river on Friday morning by a tree that grew on the bank near the water's edge. The driver was down in the fifth ward delivering a keg of beer and while he was in the house the horses became frightened and ran away. They were on Clarion street when they started and when they reached Center avenue they turned south and ran across Monterey bridge. At the east side of the south approach to the bridge there is a steep bank running down to the river.

When the horses reached the south end of the bridge they turned toward the east and went down the steep bank towards the water and it looked as if the whole outfit was going in to the river.

Saved By a Tree
Fortunately for the beer wagon there was a tree growing in the bank a short distance above the water and against this the outfit landed the horses on one side and the wagon on the other. The horses were in such a position that they could not get away until released by the people attracted by the runaway.

Holsted By Tackle
The wagon remained hanging to the tree until a tackle was secured and it was lifted up the bank onto solid ground. Considering the fall the outfit took down the bank there was very little damage done. The horses were somewhat scratched and bruised and the wagon sustained very little injury.

ATHLETIC EVENT WORTH SEEING

Second of a Series Scheduled for Next Tuesday Evening at Myers Grand.

Next Tuesday evening at the Myers Grand the members of the Inter-urban Athletic association will give the second of a series of boxing and wrestling events.

Reinhold Schott, of Watertown, who made such a favorable impression here against The Terrible Turk, will wrestle with George Curtiss of West Superior.

This event will no doubt create much interest as both men will weigh into the ring at 150 pounds. Schott is the favorite in Janesville and his friends are numbered by the score. The wrestling match will be preceded by a warm six-round boxing match between Kid Kelly of Chicago and Harry Wainwright of Milwaukee. Six rounds will be on the card and it will be for a decision and not for points. If a draw six more rounds will be scheduled.

This event will be headed by another six-round bout between two local young men.

With such a fine program the Myers Grand will undoubtedly be well filled.

HER ELEVENTH BIRTHDAY

Little Miss Marguerite Welch Celebrates By a Large Children's Party
Thursday was the eleventh anniversary of the birth of little Miss Marguerite Welch and the event was happily celebrated at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Welch, 209 Locust street. Forty children and half as many adults assembled at the home to assist in the celebration in response to invitations which were issued for the hours between four and nine o'clock.

As soon as the company had assembled, the guests marched out on the lawn to the music of a spirited march and after a couple of hours enjoyably spent at croquet and other games, another march was played and the company formed in line and returned to the house where an elegant birthday supper was served. The evening came to a close with a jolly bus ride which the guests all enjoyed.

Little Miss Welch received some handsome presents, her parents surprising her with a fine piano and a number of the guests clubbing together and giving her a beautiful ring.

JUST PLAIN, COMMON SENSE.

There may not be much literary ability displayed in our advertising. We do not believe in turning verbal "handsprings" or summersaults to attract the attention of our buying public. But we do believe in using common sense in our announcements. There is a vein of common sense in most folks; to reach that vein is what this store is after, and we try to reach it by talking clean, straight-from-the-shoulder facts concerning our methods; merchandise and prices. Sometimes we hit, sometimes we miss, but we don't hit every time. When we miss the loss is as much yours as ours. Do these values hit?

THE GREAT LAKES.

When God enrobed Himself with light
And circled earth with star-traced sky,
He covered earth with folds of green,
And clasped her belt with gems that lie
In one huge cluster densely set,
Whose crystal gleam and beryl glow
Bring pride to every patriot's breast,
Superior, Ontario!

Thy sister jewels lie between,
And over all these waters free
Go to and fro in radiant power,
His mastery of earth and sea;
Thy ships make commerce's blood flow
Strong
With iron, lumber, coal and grain,
Bring comfort to uncounted homes,
And leave their paths without a stain.

Thy ripples capture from the sun
The diamonds studding every wave;
Thy crystal floor is clean as heaven's;
Thy waters can the millions save,
For from deep fountains out of sight,
Distilled by chemistry divine,
They pour their ceaseless age-long flow,
As fresh as life's own sparkling wine.

Thy skies speak of a holy peace;
Such peace as sleeping babe enjoys;
Thy clouds are soft as angel's wings,
Thy stars, a living arch of wolds;
Thy stretches where no shores are seen
Are foretastes of the boundless air,
Whose pathways we shall travel soon,
Whose freedom endless ages share.

ABE HANCOCK'S
GEESE

"WHOSE roost was you robbin' las' night, Wash?" inquired the storekeeper, suddenly.

Wash Hancock continued to scrape the feeling "gumbo" from his boots with a blue splinter.

"Is that a digger of speech?" he drawled. "I dunno whether you want to know how I was improv'in' the shinin' hours or whether—that's so, there is feathers on me, hain't there? Well," he continued, brushing some stuff from his coat sleeve, "I come by that honest. I was tryin' ter break up a hen f'm settin' this mornin'." I despen a fool whether it wears speckled feathers or a red necktie."

The storekeeper involuntarily straightened his flame-colored ascot.

"O' course that'll do to tell," he said. "What do you think about it, Sol? I don't say Wash'd steal anythin'—not unless it was prunes, ergobers, or fine cut, an' my back was turned—but if I had missed any chickens I'd want him ter show me that settin' hen he claims he owns."

"Same here," agreed Baker, the tailor.

"D I ever tell you about the old man an' the geese that ol' Mls' Pakenham said he stole?" asked Wash. "It was before your time, Rufe, but I reckon Sol's heered about it."

"T'LL BE DING SWIZZLED" SAYS THE OLD MAN.

"Not me," declared Baker. "I've heered things said about you that I couldn't deny, not knowin' how true they was, but your father ginrally hasn't ben considered responsible for 'em."

"There was two of them geese," said Hancock. "The old man got up one mornin' an' shoveled his way out through the snow that had fell in the night to the barn an' found 'em busy in the granary. They was fine big fat white ones, as fat as fools an' as unconcerned as Sol acts when he gathers in the pot. The old man seen that their wings was well grown out an' he reckoned they had flew along with the storm from some neighbor's, so he ketched 'em an' clipped 'em so's they wouldn't travel no further away from home. Then he come back to the house an' 'e heerd that."

"We don't none of us go ter town for a day or two after that, but as soon as we did go the old man told us to kind o' leave word at the neighbors' about the geese an' if we found who owned 'em to tell 'em to come an' take 'em away. Well, nobody seemed to have lost no geese, an' the next few weeks the old man began to get uneasy. He sent word out to Tarkio about 'em an' to Paineville, an' Boomer and all over, but nobody come to claim 'em. When ever he went to town to do his tradin' he'd ask everybody he met if they hadn't lost some geese an' if anybody come along the road he'd go out an' stop the wagon an' say: 'I allow yor don't know of no one that's missed a couple o' geese, do ye?'"

"He wanted the feller ter have 'em that owned 'em and it sorter got on his mind, so at last it got to be a kind o' by-word around town an' the loafers 'd holler out as soon as they see'd him comin': 'No, I hain't lost no geese,' he finely put a piece in the Democrat about 'em, but that didn't do no good. He began to feel mighty discouraged about it. The owner told him that the geese belonged more to him than anybody, seem' he'd spent more than they was worth in feed an' advertisin', ter say nothin' of the mental anguish they'd give him, but he couldn't see it that way. 'I've got some other man's property,' he'd say, 'an' I don't want it ever flung up to me that Abe Hancock ever kep' a man outter what was his'n."

I wish the pesky things had been in Guinea before they come here."

"I've a notion to wring their necks an' have 'em for Sunday dinner," mother'd say.

"Don't you never let that notion git any farther along," says the old man, pretty to'able firm.

"But mother was sorter firm herself an' that's how it came out the way it did. It was plantin' time an' there was a right smart o' fencin' too, so we had to have two extry hired men ter git through the work an' hands was scarce an' the hard ter keep. It come Sunday an' fer onct mother had ter stay ter home from meetin' an' ter stay ter her men. The old man hitched up an' went an' took me along with him. Comin' back we see a buggy in front of us that had broke down an' a woman that was havin' considerable trouble straightenin' out. It was Mls' Pakenham."

"The widder?" asked Baker.

"Yes," answered Hancock. "The widder. She had a farm over near Burton's in Satterlee township, an' run it herself ever sence Pakenham died. Closer'n the bark on a tree an' sour as them'n dill pickles o' Rufe's. Worked in the field in short petticoats an' sun-bonnet an' did two men's work'sides her own, but when she was dressed fer meetin' she rigged up like the queen o' Sheehy. Silk dress an' gold watch an' chain and cameo brooch. That's what made her so unhandy about fixin' ner buggy, I reckon—skereed o' mussin' her silk dress. Anyway, the old man pulled up an' got out an' helped her. Then, when she got through, he asked her to stop at the house an' take dinner with us, bein' as she hadn't made mother a visit for about a year, an' she finely allowed that she would."

"Well, we got to settin' down to the table and there was a good a moell 'What is it?' says the old man. 'Roast goose,' says mother, lookin' at him stiddy. 'I'll be ding swizzled!' says the old man, thumpin' the table with his fist, madder'n hops. Mls' Pakenham, she looked from one to the other kinder curious, an' the old man simmered down, but it wasn't hard to see he was disturbed in his mind. Mother was some flustered, too. An' it was that-a-way through the meal. There was both of them geese cooked, but we was all right hungry, an' Mls' Pakenham was the hungriest o' the lot, seemed like. She sent up her plate three times. Finely she said: 'I dunno when I've relished anything like that, but I'm powerful fond o' roast geese. I didn't know as you kep' geese, Mr. Hancock.'"

"I don't," says the old man. "Them two geese come to us las' February, an'—what's the matter, Mls' Pakenham?" She had shoved back her chair an' laid down her knife an' fork an' was glarin' at him.

"Abe Hancock," she says, slow an' solemn, "I didn't think you was the man to steal a widder woman's geese. Them two geese 'at you folks have jest et was my geese. They was taken from my place in February. I know they was taken, because they was too much attached to their home ter leave without help, an' I've ben inquirin' about 'em ever sence. Why, I couldn't go ter town but folks 'd holler: 'No, Mls' Pakenham, I hain't seen nothin' o' no stray geese,' without me sayin' a word to 'em. I put a piece in the Clarion about 'em. You needn't tell me, Abe Hancock, that you didn't know whose geese they was."

"Father tried hard to explain, but she was one of them women you can't argue with, an' then mother got mad. Finely she says: 'Well, if it come to that, the geese is et an' you've et your good share o' them. We're able to pay you what they was worth, if you've got the conscience to ask it; but I reckon you don't want ter take the bones home with you. Wash, you go litch up Mls' Pakenham's horse. She's gittin' anxious to go an' I don't want ter keep her.'"

"I s'pose," says Mls' Pakenham, sorter sarcastic, "you throwed away the feathers."

"Mother colored up a little more, an' then went out an' got the bag o' feathers she'd plucked from them two geese, an' Mls' Pakenham waltzed off with 'em, an' I want ter tell you that her tongue wa'n't still about that on'til the day she died."

"Seems like Mls' Pakenham be'n inter town first after the geese left an' she made sech a doin' about it 'at none o' the folks felt much inclined to help her find 'em, an' then when the old man come in an' seemed so plague-taken anxious ter find the owner they was sorter terked an' they kep' the thing up on both sides. It jest happened 'at the old man an' Mls' Pakenham never run onto one another. It mighty nigh broke the old man's heart to have Mls' Pakenham goin' around sayin' that he'd stole the geese."

"He was too honest," commented the storekeeper.

"That's so," said Wash. "I b'lieve in folks bein' honest, but I don't like ter see 'em git bigoted about it."—Chicago Daily News.

Theme for New Drama.

Clyde Fitch writes for Salvo Maggiori, Italy where he is recuperating, that he recently had a terrifying burlesque race with a mad cow, which chased him half a mile around trees and over fences, brooks and meadows. The playwright says the cow's horns twice grazed him in the rear, the second time ripping his jaunty flannel coat with red stripes, which he believed roused the cow's temper.

WHY PHYSICIANS FAIL

To Cure Many Cases of Female Ills. Some Sensible Reasons Why Mrs. Pinkham is More Successful Than Many Family Doctors.

A woman is sick—some disease peculiar to her sex is fast developing in her system. She goes to her family physician and tells him a story, but not the whole story.

She holds back something, loses her head, becomes agitated, forgets what she wants to say, and finally conceals what she ought to have told, and this completely mystifies the doctor.

Is it a wonder, therefore, that the doctor fails to cure the disease? Still we cannot blame the woman, for it is very embarrassing to detail some of the symptoms of her suffering, even to her family physician. This is the reason why hundreds of thousands of women are now in correspondence with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. To her they can give every symptom, so that when she is ready to advise them she is in possession of more facts from her correspondence with the patient than the physician can possibly obtain through a personal interview.

Following we publish a letter from a woman showing the result of a correspondence with Mrs. Pinkham. All such letters are considered absolutely confidential by Mrs. Pinkham, and are never published in any way or manner without the consent in writing of the patient; but hundreds of women are so grateful for the health which Mrs. Pinkham and her medicine have been able to restore to them that they not only consent to publishing their letters, but write asking that this be done in order that other women who suffer may be benefited by their experience.

Here is Proof of the Value of Mrs. Pinkham's Advice.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have been taking your medicine for two months and write to you for some advice concerning it. I am in very poor health and have been for nearly three years. I am troubled with a pain and soreness in the back of my head and neck which develops into an almost unbearable headache at time of menstruation. Since last August I have been confined to my bed a great part of the time. In January I was taken very sick with one of my awful headaches, and lay for five weeks in a critical condition. Our doctors were unable to tell me the cause of my illness. I had a slow fever seemingly in my nerves with a marked bilious affection. I was completely prostrated. My physician did nothing for me but to put me to sleep, said it was the condition of my nerves at the time of menstruation. I was advised to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and would like your advice and to know the cause of my bad feelings."—Mrs. FRANCES I. MCCREA, Sheridan, Mont. (April 27, 1900.)

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I want to testify that I have been greatly benefited by the use of your medicine. After taking four bottles I felt better, my head and neck were greatly relieved. After reading the testimonials in the book you sent me, I believed that I had a tumor, and a while after when something the size of an egg passed from me, I was convinced of the fact. I now feel like a new creature, can go to my work, and can eat and sleep well, a privilege that I appreciate very much."—Mrs. FRANCES I. MCCREA, Sheridan, Mont.

$5000 REWARD.—We have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, $5000, which will be paid to any person who can find the above testimonial letters are not genuine, or were published before obtaining the writer's special permission. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Cancer is Contagious.

Long and careful inquiries by German doctors indicate that cancer is not probably hereditary, but that it is perniciously contagious. In certain districts the number of sufferers in proportion to the population is much larger every year than in other areas. Dogs and cats in many instances became cancerous, but few horses and cattle are attacked. Men and women are stricken on the average earlier in life in this generation than in those which preceded it.

DRAYMEN BLOCK LOCAL DEALERS

THE SITUATION IN THE CITY

Janesville Commission Men Foresee Trouble in Refusal of Chicago Teamsters to Haul Goods.

Today the freight strike has taken on a most serious aspect for Janesville dealers. No more goods are being received by the grocers and the commission men and a complete tie-up is imminent unless there is an agreement between the handlers and the officials immediately.

Some Goods Here

Up to today and even to a certain degree today cars have been received but the shipments have been falling off rapidly. Some houses have received their goods wholly by express for some days past. These cars that have been received lately have been those that were loaded in Chicago before the teamsters went out.

Teamsters Go Friday

The Chicago house of Hanley Bros. has been in constant communication yesterday and today with the local branch. An absolute tie-up is reported. On the tracks in the freight yards are long lines of cars full of goods and these it is impossible to touch. Friday morning at nine o'clock all of the teamsters in the yards where Hanley Bros. do their shipping refused to handle any more goods. The yards are absolutely empty of drays and everywhere are the strikers and their friends ready to do violence to anyone who should venture to drive in to load or to unload any goods.

Hope To Ship Today

Hanley Brothers hope nevertheless to ship a carload today as usual. Their plan is to do the work with their own men there in the yards, simply transferring the fruit and other consignments from one car to another without any hauling. Such an undertaking would be extremely hazardous and they are not too sanguine of the success of their project.

Docks Tied Up

A. Lawson, the president of the Wholesale Grocery company has just returned from Chicago, where he has been closely inquiring into the conditions with the hope that some means might be devised to continue the shipments from Chicago. Yesterday was the worst day of the strike up to that time and every one was looking for the precipitation of matters by the teamsters, which came this morning. The greatest fear was that the express drivers would join the teamsters in which case every route would be closed. For some days the Wholesale Grocery Co. has been making a large part of its shipments by boat and then by freight from Milwaukee. With no teamsters it will be impossible to get the goods to the docks to be loaded on the steamers.

Will Deal Direct

Mr. Lawson had a talk with T. A. Lawson, the assistant general superintendent of the C. & N. W. R. R. in Chicago and he was told by that official that the company were ready to treat with the strikers direct but did not wish any third party to be drawn into the matter. Two of the heavy stockholders, Gimbel and Marshall Field, were very insistent that the matter should be brought to a head as soon as possible in order to prevent the disastrous effects which the strike is bringing upon them.

IN THE VALLEY OF THE SHADOW

E. F. Welch

E. F. Welch, a son-in-law of the late Dr. M. G. Hodge and for many years a resident of this city, died at his home in River Forest, Ill., yesterday and his remains were laid at rest in Forest Home cemetery this afternoon at three o'clock. Mr. Welch's death was the result of an apopleptic fit with which he was taken a week ago Saturday while at work in his garden.

Deceased had a large circle of friends in this city, where he resided for many years. He was one of the most successful and popular commercial travelers on the road but about three years ago he retired from active business life. The family moved from this city to Chicago about six years ago.

Deceased leaves a devoted wife and three sons, Ray Welch, of New York City, Marvin Welch, of Chicago and Harry Welch, of Brooklyn, Wis.

H. B. Johnson

All that was mortal of the late Henry Bratton Johnson was laid at rest in the cemetery at Johnstown Center. Funeral services were held from the home, 11 Milton avenue, at 1:30 o'clock today. Rev. R. C. Denison, pastor of the Congregational church officiating. An appropriate song service was beautifully rendered by a quartette which included Mrs. C. F. Yates, Mrs. Fanny L. Clark, C. N. Vankirk and George G. Paris.

Both at the home and by the side of the lowly mound in the Johnstown Center cemetery, the presence of a large company of sorrowing friends bore witness to the high esteem which Mr. Johnson had won during his long residence in the county. Especially beautiful and numerous also were the floral expressions of heartfelt sympathy for the bereaved ones.

Those who bore the remains to their last resting place were W. A. Pickett, James McArthur, F. L. Fletcher, Horace Cunningham, Geo. Hanthorn and L. C. Brewer.

Connors' Handsome Place

E. B. Connors' handsome new place on West Milwaukee street is well worthy of inspection. Richly furnished throughout it is second to none in the city. No saloon in the city contains more costly fixtures, the same being in rich mahogany trimmed with gold and silver. The other furnishings are in keeping with the place and throughout this popular resort is daily proving more attractive.

GOLDEN PRIMROSE BLOOMS AT NIGHT

IT IS A FASCINATING SIGHT

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Searles Own a Flowering Shrub, Which is a Curiosity.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Searles have an attractive novelty at their home 6 Olive street in the way of a night blooming primrose, an out door shrub which when in bloom, is covered with pale lemon colored blossoms about three inches in diameter. The buds begin to open about seven o'clock in the evening and the process of blooming is both peculiar and fascinating.

The buds are about an inch and a half long and are about the size of a lead pencil, the petals of the flower being tightly rolled inside the green calyx which has four sepals. About 7 o'clock each evening these buds begin to swell, the sepals slowly separating at the base of the bud instead of the tip. Suddenly the calyx splits into two sections which turn quickly back and lie close against the stem of the flower.

Then comes the most peculiar part of the blossoming process. The flower has four large petals, several stamens and a pistil all of a light yellow. The pistil is capped by four stigmas which extend at right angles to each other and to the stalk. The petals are rolled one within the other, the upper edges being ruffled in and seeming to be held in place by the stigmas of the pistil. The pistil turns slowly around releasing the petals which unfold in the opposite direction. Suddenly they burst open and the flower is in full bloom.

When about one quarter open the flower resembles the paper windmills made for the amusement of children, then it grows into a likeness of a California poppy and finally the widening cup shaped petals lie flat open. Within a half an hour after the first swelling of the buds, the shrub, which is about four feet high, is a mass of yellow. The blossoming process is much more rapid on a warm evening.

The flowers are very fragile and last until nearly noon of the next day, when they begin to wilt and drop off. The stem bearing the row of buds which is to blossom the next night, grows several inches during the day. The shrub began blossoming last Tuesday evening and the indications are that the novel flower show will last several evenings more.

Neighbors and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Searles gather at their home every evening and laying wagers on the buds which will open first proves fascinating amusement.

Great Score: Willie Lorimer, the professional at Racine, made the round at the Sinsinuk links Thursday in 35 strokes, which is three better than has ever before been made.

New Church Residence: The cellar is being dug for the new parsonage for St. John's German Lutheran church, and this work is at work shaping the tone for the foundations. The lot on which the new church residence is to be located is on Pease Court, a little above Bluff street.

Repairing Damages: At the Rock River Machine Co.'s works masons are making repairs on the building which was damaged by fire last winter. Carpenters have also been doing some general repairing on the building. The brick layers are at present putting in a new chimney and have recently been doing some work on the walls which had been open in places.

Business Will Start: A. C. Kent will put a force of men at work in the corn planter works the first of next week. A full force will not be taken on until later, but at present both the hand corn planter and shovel departments will be opened up in part. The Taylor and Lowell company occupies the middle part of the first floor of the works and a part of the second but they will not be interfered with by the resuming of work by the other concern, and will continue their operations with the usual number of hands.

Committee Meeting: The sewerage committee of the council had a meeting Thursday night to consider plans for the division of the city into sewerage districts. Before anything can be done there will have to be a survey of the city made and a set of topographical maps completed. The city engineer will start on the work at once.

New Hydrant: The new four way hydrant at the corner of West Milwaukee and Marion streets is in place and gives increased fire protection to the buildings in that vicinity.

Potato Food Factory: Frank Bunyan, of Stratford, Conn., was in the city yesterday looking for a location for a concern that prepares potatoes in a form similar to cereal food. The business is not very extensive and it is not necessary that he have a factory location. He was shown about the city by some of the local business men.

At Isabel Factory: On Monday E. T. Plish will start on the work of jacking up the roof of the Isabel factory to make it correspond with the roof over the new building directly north of the factory.

INSPECT INTER-URBAN ROUTE

TO BEGIN WORK ON MONDAY

Ties and Rails for the Beloit-Janesville Section Will Be Laid.

H. H. Clough and wife, accompanied by their daughter and son, drove up from Beloit this afternoon, along the line of the Beloit, Delavan Lake and Janesville electric road.

H. H. Jackson, the engineer for the road was also in the city. He says that the grading between this city and Beloit is almost finished and the books and headquarters for the Hayes Bros. Co., who are doing the grading, have been moved to this city. The ties and rails for the new line are distributed along the right of way from Beloit up to where the road goes under the C. M. & St. P. R. R. tracks and that they will begin laying the rails on Monday. Today a force of men are engaged in putting in the crossing where the electric line crosses the Janesville & Southern in Spring Brook.

Open July 20.

They now expect to have the line between Beloit and Rockford open for traffic by July 20. Everything is in readiness for business as soon as the cars arrive. They have been delayed in getting the cars but now have a definite promise that they will be ready by July 15.

Power House Ready

The power house is all finished with the exception of the cement floors which are now being laid. The floors could not be put in until the machinery was all in place.

To Reduce Voltage

The object of the sub-station south of the city is to reduce the current voltage from high to low. The current that will be sent to the substation will be 13,500 volts and will be reduced to 550 volts which is sufficient power to run the cars at a high rate of speed.

No Date Fixed

They cannot tell exactly when the line between Janesville and Beloit will be in operation but now expect to have it running by September first.

Curbing Being Laid: The cement curbing on Milton avenue which is being built by Blake Brothers of Madison has been completed from St. Mary's avenue as far as Walker Street as the result of two weeks' work. The curbing is to be continued as far as Milwaukee street, and at the rate at which the work has been progressing thus far it will take all of two months to finish up the job. The damp weather of the past week has been far from furnishing the most desirable conditions for rapid work.

NEWS OF THE COUNTY

HANOVER.

Hanover, July 10.—George Haight Jr. is working in Beloit.

Paul Damerow played with the Orfordville band Wednesday evening at their band concert.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Brown were Janesville visitor son Tuesday.

Mrs. Lizzie Voight has returned to her home in Oconomowoc.

Miss Francis Kent has returned to her home in Janesville, after a week's visit with relatives in Hanover.

The 4th annual picnic of Willowdale camp 2902 M. W. A., was a success in every way, about 2000 people were on the grounds during the day. The high wind interfered somewhat with the exercises, making it difficult to hear the speakers. Hanover Cornet Band rendered some excellent music and the children performed their part with credit. A great many were disappointed in the speaker, but the Woodmen are not to blame for that. Miss Frank Sheehan gave a recitation in her usual pleasing manner. The program concluded with the song "America" sung by the audience. The dance in the evening was attended by a large crowd, and every thing passed off very pleasantly. It was quite an undertaking for so small a camp but was carried through successfully.

Miss Francis Brinkman of Afton, was a guest of Miss Clara Gundel the first part of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Kendall and daughter, Evelyn, of Belvidere, Ill., who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Child, left this morning for Janesville.

Chas. Hemingway was a Janesville visitor on Thursday.

The berry season is nearly over. E. G. Brown and Geo. Schaffner will finish this week. Berries have been very good.

EDGERTON.

Work was begun this week on some improvements to be made on the M. E. parsonage.

Edgerton, July 10.—Miss Ella Keller, of Chicago is home for a two weeks vacation.

Miss Cora Harris of Evansville, spent the latter part of last week with Edgerton friends.

Horn to Mr. and Mrs. Mike Schmidt, July 5, a boy.

Mrs. Harry Hutsen and children are visiting a few days in Janesville.

Mr. and Mrs. Heddles, of Evansville, spent the Fourth in Edgerton.

Owing to the addition of another rural mail route to take effect the 15th, some changes are being made in the postoffice.

Many of our most prominent politicians have been attending the convention at Janesville the present week.

Dr. Nicholson's mother of Aurora, Ill., is a visitor at her son's home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Babcock, of Chicago, arrived the latter part of last week for a visit with Edgerton friends. Mr. Babcock returned Sunday afternoon.

Rev. L. H. Keller and family of Milwaukee, are spending the month at Lake Koshkonong. Mr. Keller will occupy the pulpit at the Congregational church Sunday morning.

Rev. Dennison of Stoughton, will conduct union service Sunday evening in our city.

Albert Rinker was killed by lightning at his brother's home a few miles north of Edgerton last Wednesday night while sleeping in his bed. A rafter was splintered and a looking glass hanging near his bed was broken but otherwise no damage was done to the house.

Crops in this vicinity are about all that could be asked for. The warm weather of the past few days has hastened the growth of everything. Some of the grains are lodging somewhat, owing to the rank growth, heavy rains and winds but taken as a whole there is an excellent outlook.

WATER-SUPPLY AND IRRIGATION PAPERS.

The Water-Supply and Irrigation Papers issued by the Division of Hydrography of the United States Geological Survey are detailed reports on particular phases of the development of the country. The purpose of these publications is two-fold: to provide a more extended treatment of the subjects than the limited space of the Annual Reports will permit, and to make available for use as soon as possible information which is of general interest.

The subject matter of these papers consists of reports, usually with reference to a particular locality or section, on the methods and use of water in irrigation; the conservation of water in storage reservoirs; investigations for artesian and other underground waters; together with the results of the studies of the rock formations on which the presence of these waters depends. Windmills, as a factor in the distribution of a portion of the country's water supply, especially upon the great Plains, are discussed; also the different methods of sewage disposal in the United States and elsewhere to prevent river pollution. In the series are published the results of the measurements of flow which are being conducted on many streams in different sections, and one of the numbers is devoted to a record of the profiles or slopes of the most important of the country's rivers. The pamphlets are fully illustrated with maps, diagrams, and half tones made from photographs, and may be had on application to the Director of the Survey.

Special Excursion Via C. & N. W. Ry. to Wisconsin, Minnesota and North Dakota Points.
Very low excursion rates to points in above territory are in effect daily July 9 to Sept. 10, inclusive. See ticket agent C. & N. W. Ry. Telephone No. 35.

AN OLD SORE

Will sour the sweetest disposition and transform the most even tempered, lovable nature into a cross-grained and irritable individual. If impatience or fault-finding are ever excusable it is when the body is tortured by an eating and painful sore. It is truly discouraging to find after months of diligent and faithful use of external remedies that the place remains as defiant, angry and offensive as ever. Every chronic sore, no matter on what part of the body it comes, is an evidence of some previous constitutional or organic trouble, and that the drugs of these diseases remain in the system; or, it may be that some long hidden poison—perhaps Cancer—has come to the surface and begun its destructive work.

The blood must be purified before the sore will fill up with healthy flesh and the skin regains its natural color. It is through the circulation that the acid, corroding fluids are carried to the sore or ulcer and keep it irritated and inflamed. S. S. S. will purify and invigorate the stagnant blood when all sediment or other hurtful materials are washed out, fresh rich blood is carried to the diseased parts, new tissues form, and the decaying flesh begins to have a healthy and natural look; the discharge ceases and the sore heals.

Several years ago, my wife had a severe sore leg and was treated by the best physicians but received no benefit. Our druggist advised her to try S. S. S., which she did. Fourteen bottles cured her and she has been well ever since.

MITCHELL TALKS
FOR THE MINERS

Declares Railways' Refusal to Arbitrate Is Repugnant to Americans.

NOT WORRIED ABOUT MONEY

Should the Convention Deem It Inadvisable to Inaugurate a General Strike He Believes Ample Funds Will Be Forthcoming.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 12.—President Mitchell in an interview said that no person could with any degree of certainty predict the outcome of the national convention which will convene at Indianapolis next Thursday. He said:

"I feel certain that in the event of it being inadvisable to inaugurate a national strike that provisions will be made to contribute ample funds to carry the strike to certain victory. The declaration of the railroad presidents that there is nothing to arbitrate and their persistent refusal to treat considerably with us for a solution of the trouble is repugnant to the American people's sense of right, and this action is culminating in many offers of sympathy and assistance from the general public."

Sends Letter to Mitchell.

J. Ridgeway Right of this city, the leader of the Citizens' Alliance, which was recently organized in this vicinity, sent an open letter to President Mitchell, in which he calls the latter's attention to alleged intimidations, boycotting and other annoyances practiced on all persons who are working the mines. He pays a tribute to organized labor generally for the good it has done, and reminds Mr. Mitchell that every man has a right to work or remain idle as he sees fit.

In concluding his communication, Leader Wright says: "We therefore appeal to you to declare:

"(1) The highways are free to all who desire to work, notwithstanding a strike is in progress.

"(2) Boycotts against any business or professional man on the ground of services rendered to a nonunion worker are condemned by the union.

"(3) That hanging in effigy, the digging of mock graves and every other form of violence, threat and libel are condemned by the union.

Would Punish Strikers.

"(4) Strikers who participate in any of the offenses thus itemized will be held responsible to the union for all disturbances, unlawful boycotts, in which either they themselves or their wives and children participate.

"Referring to your speech to Nanticoke, we call your attention to the error on which it is based. The Citizens' Alliance is not an adjunct to or organized in sympathy with unorganized labor, but over and above it and above all organized capital, we intend to uphold organized society. We are not the proper subjects of criticism because we saw no need for an alliance among citizens to repress boycotts which you say occurred, but were limited to operators and miners in their struggle with one another.

Condemns Boycott.

"But when the boycott raises its head against the private right of neutrals and when lawlessness destroys property, threatens arson and murder, and takes the form of actual rioting, it is the right and the duty of neutrals and citizens generally to organize in self-defense and for the maintenance of public order, and we are justified in inviting co-operation from both sides in the existing ranks."

For the first time in five weeks the pumps at the Stanton mine of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal company were put in operation and the work of pumping the water out of the mine begun.

WOULD-BE LYNCHERS FOILED

Mob of 500 Demand Man Suspected of Assaulting Woman.

East St. Louis, Ill., July 12.—At 10:30 Friday night a mob of 500 appeared at the city prison and demanded the surrender of Charles Russell, suspected of being one of the assailants of Annie Bryant last Sunday midnight, as they were determined to lynch him. The jailer and guards stood off the crowd and a riot call was sent out, summoning every policeman in the district. Upon their arrival each officer was handed a riot gun and ordered to defend the prisoner at all hazards.

The crowd withdrew, but still surrounded the prison. They seemed to lack a leader and it is believed that they were overawed by the resistance they met. The crowd of would-be lynchers is largely composed of mill hands.

COUNTERFEITER IS IN JAIL

Confesses He Was One of a Gang Making Bogus Dollars.

St. Joseph, Mich., July 12.—For several years counterfeit silver dollars have been circulating in Alcona county. Archie Campbell of Harrisville, Mich., was arrested and he confessed to the authorities, implicating James Beebe and Thomas Baker. The arrest and confession of Campbell means much to the state authorities, as it is well known that a gang of professional counterfeiters has been operating successfully in the state for years. The operations have been carried on in a deserted blacksmith shop near the edge of the woods.

Allan, who was sitting in the rear of the wagon, jumped to the front, took the reins from the driver, and finally gained control of the team. The wagon was damaged, but the occupants escaped.

Cuba Raises Tariff.

Havana, July 12.—The Cuban congress has decided to raise the import duty on coffee in order to protect the Santiago coffee estates. LITTLE IDLENESS
IN TRADE FIELD

Business Is Good and Commodity Prices Are Well Maintained.

BANNER PIG IRON PRODUCTION

New High Record of 352,590 Tons Reached Despite Scarcity of Fuel—High Price for Corn Shows Farmers Have Little.

New York, July 12.—"Good news predominates, although unfavorable weather proved a drawback at many points and new labor disputes arose. There is less than the customary midsummer idleness in manufacturing industries, despite the scarcity of fuel. Commodity prices are fully maintained. Railway earnings thus far available for June average 9.9 per cent larger than last year's and 20.6 per cent above those of 1900." The foregoing is from the weekly trade review of R. G. Dun & Co. It continues:

"Statistics of pig iron production on July 1 are somewhat surprising. According to the Iron Age the weekly output was at a new high record of 352,590 tons, notwithstanding the shortage of fuel. In steel the situation is mixed, heavy lines falling further behind orders, while a number of rod, wire and nail mills in the Pittsburgh region have shut down for the usual vacation. Structural steel and railway supplies are urgently sought, so much more business being placed that activity is assured well into 1903.

Leather Goods Active.

"New England shoemakers are more fully engaged than at any previous time this year. Union leather is firm, but domestic buyers are taking little hemlock, the best inquiry being for export. Upper leather is active at the West. A large purchase of packer hides has strengthened the tone at Chicago, while Texas hides arrive more freely and concessions are made. Export orders for cotton goods are still disappointing, and the home demand is quiet, yet mills are well occupied. At the South there is a disposition to delay spinning until the new crop begins to move, and this tendency is also reported in England. In Woolens the best feature is the record business in heavy weight, quick delivery being desired.

Farmers' Reserves Small.

"Corn has again been the prominent feature of the markets for domestic staples. Speculators at the West secured control of the 6,000,000 bushels in the visible supply, and compelled the short interests to cover contracts at disastrously high prices. Farmers' reserves are evidently insignificant, for attractive prices do not bring out even a fair volume of receipts. Wheat was quiet and strong.

"Liabilities of commercial failures for the first week in July amounted to $1,570,383, of which $483,048 were in manufacturing, $536,416 in trading and $450,919 in other lines. Failures for the week numbered 193 in the United States, against 208 last year, and nineteen in Canada, against twenty-seven a year ago."

Earthquake at St. Vincent.

St. Thomas, July 12.—Advices received here from the island of St. Vincent say that three earthquake shocks were experienced there Tuesday within four hours.

Recently there have been several cases of prominent men suddenly falling in collapse just after eating a hearty meal. These men have all been under treatment for gastric "trouble," and yet the result shows that the treatment they had received had smothered the symptoms but had not retarded the progress of the disease.

There is a real danger in the use of palliatives when there is disease of the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition. The disease in such cases goes on, while the distressing symptoms are stopped. Presently, like a smoldered fire, the disease breaks out in new places, involving heart, lungs, liver, kidneys, or some other organ.

The use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery results in a radical cure of diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It cures diseases of heart, lungs, liver, kidneys, etc., when the disease of these organs has its origin in the diseased condition of the stomach and digestive and nutritive system.

"I will tell you what myself and family think of your medicine," writes Mr. M. M. Wardwell, of Linwood, Leavenworth Co., Kansas. "It will do all you say, and more. I was taken sick one year ago. I got so weak I couldn't lie down, nor hardly sit up; was that way two or three months. I picked up one of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery books one day and saw your description of catarrh of the stomach. I thought it hit my case. We had a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in the house that was got for my mother. You recommend it for catarrh of the stomach, so I went to taking it. The one bottle nearly cured me. I got two bottles next time and took one and one-half and was well. Your medicine cost me three dollars and the doctor cost me fourteen dollars."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps, to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Kodol
Dyspepsia Cure

Digests
what you
Eat

Dyspeptics cannot regain health and strength by living upon half rations. They must eat plenty of good food and digest it. To enable them to do this they should use something that will help the stomach do its work. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is such a preparation. It digests what you eat and supplies the substances needed to build up the worn out digestive organs.

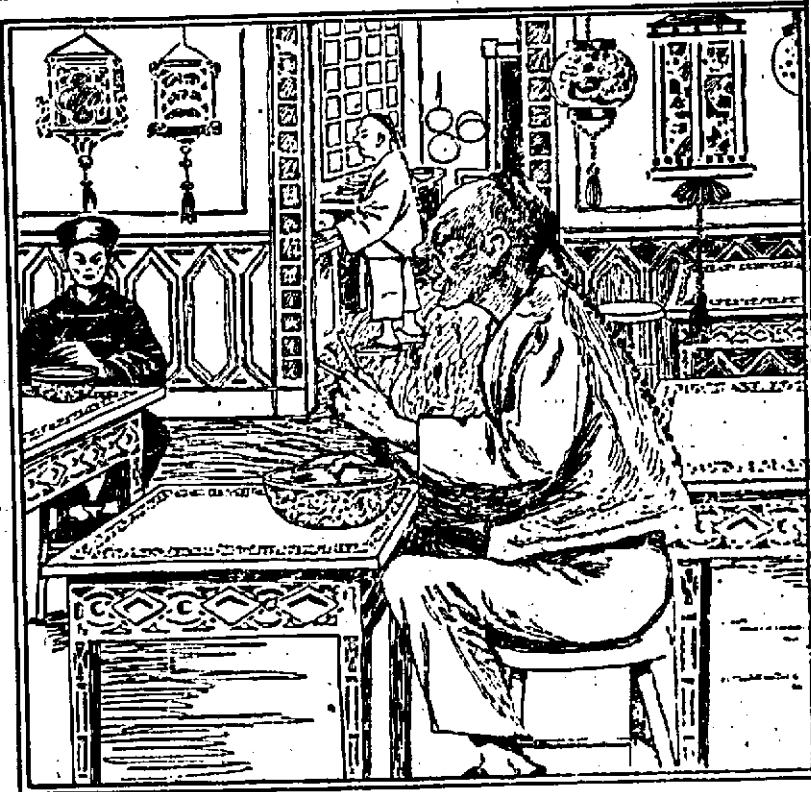

Prof. J. Iverson, of Lonaconing, Md., says: "For thirteen years I suffered agony from dyspepsia and neuralgia of the stomach. I tried almost everything and doctors drugged me nearly to death with morphine, but temporary relief was all I could obtain till I was advised to use Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. The first dose gave me relief. I bought my first bottle in March, 1900, and I have not had a single pain since. It has completely cured me. I cannot endorse it too highly."

It can't help but do you good

Prepared by E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. The $1. bottle contains 2½ times the 50c. size.

The favorite household remedy for coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis, grippe, throat and lung troubles is ONE MINUTE Cough Cure. It cures quickly.

GREAT ROCK ISLAND ROUTE

WHY? It is the only direct line to Colorado Springs and Manitou. It is the popular route to Denver. It has the best dining car service. It has the finest equipment and most satisfactory schedule, and in the ROCKY MOUNTAIN LIMITED offers the best train, only one night, Chicago to Colorado.

It leaves Chicago daily at 5:45 p.m. and arrives at Denver 8:45 p.m., Colorado Springs (Manitou) 8:30 p.m. Another inducement to use the Rock Island will be the round trip rates of $25 Chicago to Colorado and $15 Missouri River points to Colorado effective this summer by that line. ## HAUGHTY PIRATES CEASE TO ROAM

ROVING BUCCANEERS RETURN

Laden with Experience and Tanned
by Sun and Wind, the Cruise Ends.

No more need the inhabitants of the Rock River valley fear the marauding pirate. No more will trembling children seek shelter in their mother's arms or the deepest recesses of the cellar or hay mow when the dreaded black flag is seen sailing up the pasture creek. Farmers may cultivate their fields in peace. Housewives churn their cream into yellow butter and frightened fish again swim in peace the river's bed. The cruise of the "Yellow Kid" is over. Hauled down is the black emblem of the pirate chief. The skull and cross bones are carefully placed in the locker. The anchor is well planted and the pirate chief and his daring crew of buccaneers have again become good citizens. For two weeks they have ravaged the Rock river. For two weeks the inhabitants have wondered at and feared and tremblingly paid tribute levied. Now all is peace and quiet.

Cruise Ended
"Something seems to tell us we have arrived."

So ran the wording of a telegram received Thursday at Beloit from the crew of that pirate craft, the "Yellow Kid," which left here two weeks ago today and sailed down the Rock river to Dixon, Illinois, ravaging the country and levying tribute, planning to take about two weeks for the journey. The craft which bore them however, proved capable of beating that schedule by about two days, despite all the disadvantages of rain, hail, thunder storms, cows and barb wire fences that assailed them.

Crew Reaches Beloit
Just before midnight on Thursday night two members of the quartette, who manned the gallant bark, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Sherman, arrived in Beloit, tanned and sunburnt from the exposure of the elements, and probably rather more weary than they cared to admit, but bearing themselves with the arrogant carriage of buccaneers of the high seas. The remainder of the party, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Hackley, returned to their home in Chicago.

Undaunted By Tempests
If the official statement of the returned rovers is to be accepted not once were they daunted by the storms that beset them. They will admit that they were more than a little interested in the appearance of the sky on that day when the residents of Beloit received notice to look out for an approaching cyclone, but although they were a mile and a half from the nearest farmhouse, and the river rose almost two feet, they cared not so long as their tent remained dry.

Out of Tobacco
One unfortunate occurrence of the cruise was the bedraggling of the head gear worn by the ladies, displaying the name of the boat on long yellow streamers, to such an extent that they could not be worn to startle the natives at some of the inland ports at which they dropped anchor. The other mishap was expressed in a telegram which was received a few days ago, "Officers and crew of the Yellow Kid are all well, except Hackley, who is out of tobacco."

LIVELY RUNAWAY

Horse Scared at the Cars Plays Havoc With Buggy

A horse belonging to William Slawson, created considerable excitement last evening near the junction of Milton and Milwaukee avenues by running away and smashing the buggy to which it was hitched. The horse became frightened at the Milton avenue car and in the fracas that followed ran into the drinking fountain, breaking one of the shafts to the buggy. Mr. Slawson succeeded in quieting him and left him in charge of a boy while he went for something to repair the broken shaft. About this time the Forest Park car came along and the horse took a fresh start. He soon broke away from the boy and ran down Milwaukee street wrecking the buggy and breaking the harness, so he got clear of the wreck. He was headed off near Crall's livery and turned into the barn where he was caught.

The buggy was wrecked and the horse considerably cut up.

BLOODED STOCK

Five Trotting Horses Pass Through City Enroute For Detroit

An express car bearing five trotting horses with their keepers and racing outfit went through here this morning on the 10:10, enroute from Minneapolis to Detroit. The horses were the property of Bennett & Goodall, of San Francisco, and were in charge of Driver W. K. Welch.

They left Minneapolis last night and expect to reach Detroit about 12 o'clock tonight.

The horses in the car were Grasshopper, 2:14 1-4; G. W., 2:15 1-4; Dr. Hammond, Uncle John and Maud Maxine. The last three are horses without records and are considered the best in the bunch.

Dr. Hammond is entered in the $5,000 2:24 pacing stake, which comes on Monday and in a second race on Friday. He can step a mile in 2:10 or better and Mr. Welch expects to get a piece of the money. The other horses are entered in races during the week.

It costs the owners quite a sum to send the horses from Minneapolis to Detroit by express.
